Angger Baskoro

Surabaya, Indonesia
EECS IGP
The Third Year of Doctoral Program

"I wanted to learn new things in the Heart of Asia and at NYCU (National Yang Ming Chiao Tung University) to prepare me for the remainder of my education and professional career when I grabbed the opportunity to study abroad. In my opinion, NYCU is the greatest choice for anyone searching for a fantastic International atmosphere and a stimulating academic curriculum. Because of the importance of this discipline and its history in Taiwan, I opted to study electrical engineering at NYCU. In terms of value for money, overall performance, and geographic area, NYCU was the perfect suit for me. Studying at NYCU has allowed me to learn about various cultures and obtain fresh perspectives. That is my brief view as a Ph.D. student at NYCU, whose name was given to me by my parents, notably Angger Baskoro, an Indonesian native. Through NYCU, I have gained a genuinely priceless learning experience."
