Snapshots

SMILLA WILHELMSSON

Studying at NYCU has been an incredibly rewarding experience. This semester has offered valuable lessons, delicious food, and the joy of meeting new friends from both Taiwan and around the world. I have also enjoyed exploring the NYCU campus, which is very different from Chalmers, my home university in Sweden. The vibrant atmosphere and unique environment here have made the experience even more special. Immersing myself in a culture so different from my own has been amazing, and I am deeply grateful for all the memories I have gained so far.

One of the most exciting challenges has been learning a new language. Although I find Chinese difficult, it is also very fun, and I am proud of the progress I have made. With another semester ahead, I am excited to continue exploring, learning, and connecting with more people. I cannot wait to see what new adventures and opportunities the future has to offer!
