Snapshots

Jakub Zíka

As a Computer Science Master's student from the Czech Technical University, I spent a semester as an exchange student at NYCU through the Connectivity Scholarship Program. The courses were challenging and enriching, broadening my knowledge and perspectives in computer science.

Beyond academics, I connected with students from around the world and experienced Taiwan's culture and natural landscapes. The supportive campus environment and international community made this exchange a valuable experience for my academic, cultural, and personal growth.
